

SEEN, HEARD AND TOLD

BY THE EDITOR

We cannot but speak the things which we have seen and heard—Acts 4:25.

The Farm of the Week last week fooled most of the folks, even Bob Sartwell (one of our most expert spotters), but Maurice Phillips knew his own home, came in and got his free picture.

Most readers should identify the picture of the week for this week and, if the fellow who lives in the home shown will come in, identify the picture, he will get a nicely-mounted photograph.

Somebody said that, if Secretary Stevens behaved himself well, Private Schine would give him a pass soon.

Over in Los Angeles, they have stickers which read, 'Vote Democratic. The job you save may be your own'; also others, reading, 'Don't blame me, I voted Democratic.'

The GCW says, 'Better bring the rascals back.'

I am not 'viewing with alarm' the U. S. Supreme Court decision of this week, relating to segregation. Rather I am waiting with hope, and real expectation, that we folks down here in Mississippi will 'work this thing' out as we have worked out many problems.

After all, the Supreme Court sitting in Washington is OUR supreme court, and Mississippi is still in the United States.

Mississippi and other Southern states ignored the supreme court's

SPECIAL NOTICE

We announced last week that we were running a special juvenile delinquency edition in this week's issue. But owing to some important material we are setting up, and cannot get in this week's issue. But everything, including writeups, personally written and indorsed by some of our most prominent officials and ministers that are discussing and writing their personal opinions and experiences on Juvenile Delinquency.

You will also see and read editorials and material that will be of very great interest to us all.

Don't miss next week's edition.

directive, in this matter, made in 1906, nearly 60 years ago. This court told us then that we could have 'separate' schools all right, but 'equal.'

Sam Wade, who renewed this week, told me that he was Tommie Darras' main tea drinker (tea costs 5 cents a cup).

Speaking of Sam, I am always directing customers to him. I always say, 'Sam has got it, if he can find it,' and that's true, if he can find it. Even Noah on his ark had no more heterogeneous collection of stuff than Sam has.

The phrase, 'Me and Mike' was succeeded by another, 'Me and Hugh' and will now be followed by another, 'Me and Jim.'

The last time I drove over the road west of Odd Fellows and going to the Pine Hill community, the roads needed working badly, but I hope, since I was out there, Ben Sanders has got to the road.

J. D. Hardy has been hankering after the GCW ever since his daddy died. Now he has it.

While Mrs. S. R. Summerville was visiting her in-laws down in Grenada, she got a taste of the GCW and has wanted a regular dose of it ever since. Ergo, she is getting it regularly now at her home in Hornell, New York.

One of old man Jeff Staten's daughters, Mrs. C. H. Winter of Holcomb, sent in her annual dues Tuesday, but there are hundreds of others who ain't yet got their names in the paper.

The Costillows Get Around. Ruth Costillow Rose old Tommie's wife, is visiting her brother, another Costillow, in California. She has kept her pretty nose stuck behind that counter so long that all of her friends, including this writer, hope she enjoys this, her first vacation in a long, long time.

I hope sometime in the future to

George Campbell, 78, Died Suddenly Monday Morning

George Campbell, who spent most of his life as a railroad machinist in the St. Louis vicinity, but who retired about ten years ago in order to move back 'home' to Grenada, died suddenly Monday morning, May 17, 1952 in the old home 'on the hill,' just on the western edge of Grenada, a home occupied by his family ever since the memory of man runneth not to the contrary.

George was one of the children of Dr. Campbell and the doctor's wife, Mrs. Ida Campbell, who survives, was as a matter of fact, the step-mother of George. S. B. Campbell of St. Louis and Mrs. Blair of Decatur, Alabama.

Mrs. Ida Campbell and the late Dr. Campbell had only two children, Harry, dead these many years, and Mrs. B. B. Payne, now living in Grenada.

Mr. Campbell leaves two sons, G. C. and M. B., both of Miami.

Funeral services were had at Garner Brothers Funeral home Wednesday afternoon. Interment was had in Woodlawn Cemetery in Grenada following services conducted by Rev. Felix Sutphin, pastor of the Grenada Methodist Church.

Do you see that pretty gal on the society page. That's about the youngest gal of Eddie Davis and wife and she is marrying one of our Houston (Texas) subscribers, Alton Moss. Alton is a medical student, soon to be graduated. Instead of 'hiring' a nurse, he is marrying one, and, I think, that's smart.

Scoby's bundle of papers went hay wire too, as G. W. Harrison came in and got his copy at the office.

After talking to Shorty Jones, 'King of the Carroll County Gold Coast,' I am almost persuaded to take another trip to that fantastic area and write it up again.

reproduce an editorial, 'Ears of America' from the Christian Science Monitor. It was one of the finest sermons on Tolerance I ever read. The whole burden of the piece is that America should 'listen' to others more, and 'tell others what to do less.' The writer of the editorial contrasted the 'Voice of America' to what he titled, 'Ears of America.'

Over a year ago, I got the notion of swapping off my old Ford and buying a new car. I told each dealer the same tale: here's the old Ford. Make me a proposition. When all propositions were 'th' I made a decision and bought the car, I thought, the best deal. Recently I got the television fever. I consulted ALL the dealers, got the cash proposition of each, then took up the deal which, I thought, best. Now we are staying up most of the night looking and listening. If I made a mistake, which I don't think I made, it was our money used, money that Mabel and I saved.

GRENADA COUNTY "FARM OF THE WEEK"

Number 5 In A Series Of 52

—This Series Sponsored by Jitney-Jungle, Grenada.

If this is YOUR farm, you can get, without charge, a nicely mounted picture of the farm, but you must come to the Grenada County Weekly and identify it.

While you are in the GCW office, we hope to interview you and get a story, for subsequent publication, about this property and about your family.

If you need other photographs of the above, either the size shown, or larger, or on postal cards, the GCW can, and will arrange for them. A reasonable charge, of course, will be made for these reproductions. Let us show you samples.

H. H. Weldy Died Suddenly Tuesday Night in Greenwood

While attending a pharmaceutical meeting in Greenwood Tuesday night, May 18, 1952, Homer Weldy suffered a sudden heart attack, was carried to the Greenwood Leflore Hospital in Greenwood and died shortly thereafter.

He was a graduate in Pharmacy and worked not only in Waynesboro where he was born, but in several of the drug stores in Grenada. At the time of his death he was with the Corner Drug Store.

He was a veteran of both of the recent world wars and always took great interest in state and local political affairs.

He had been married several times but his present wife is the former Miss Ruth Austin of Grenada.

His people were prominent folks in Wayne County, southeast Mississippi. 3 children by a former marriage survive him.

Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon at 2:30. Ohe Rev. F. A. Sutphin officiated.

Fishing Notes

Mr. Rhoades, the little dude who is helping us get up this edition about Juvenile Delinquency, is what one might call, a man of parts. Among other things, Mr. Rhoades is a fisherman and tells this tale: Fish were not biting, so he got some little rubber balloons. He then caught a small fish. He put one end of the string thru the fish's gills and tied the other end of the string to the balloon. The fish swam off and finally stopped, the balloon in the meantime, of course, staying afloat. There's a school of fish, he said to himself. He paddled over to the spot and caught a nice mess of fish. If that's a lie, it is his lie, not mine.

FINALLY TELLS TRUTH: Tommie Darras finally told the truth. He SAID he gave Proby a hook, line and cork, while Lem Boone furnished Proby a pole. Believe it or not, the story was TRUE.

I'm getting into correspondence with Frank Kraft in order to get some background material for the story, to be published next week, of the farm picture shown this week. If I recall, Frank was the first Kraft in Grenada and he had a lot to do with the establishment of this farm. Frank is up in Illinois now. Frank used to get the GCW but, for some reason, we 'fell out.'

Memphis, or at least part of it, was in consternation Saturday. Mrs. Talbert Yeager called on the phone to report that neither she, nor Dr. Moore Moore had received a GCW up until that day.

First Boat Races On Grenada Lake Will Be Sunday

William C. Williams, 70, Died Here Wednesday

Will C. Williams, 70, died in Grenada Hospital late Wednesday afternoon, May 19, 1952 and was buried in the Weir-Angvine lot in Odd Fellows Cemetery Thursday afternoon in a lot beside that of his wife, Laura Weir Williams, whom he married in 1910. Mrs. Williams died in 1942.

He was born in 1884 on the Williams old place southwest of Grenada. Their place was what is known today as the McCaulla place. At one period he was on the police force of Grenada under the late Snip Crenshaw. He once farmed a big farm near McIntyre Lake in Leflore County. In the immediate past he worked at Grenada Dam.

Surviving him are a son, Ben W. Williams of Okolona and a daughter, Mrs. Mildred D'Antonio of New Orleans. While his wife was a member of the Episcopal Church, Mr. Williams and his children were Baptists.

Reminiscences of the GHS Class '01

(Mrs. Nannie Alexander)

For some time there has been a plan for the Class of 1907 to have a reunion. Supt. J. C. Hathorn had invited us to be his guests on May 21st. There was 7 of us in the class and the death of Frank Thomas recently was the first one to go.

Certain reasons our plans did not mature, but yet next year we may perfect our plans.

Those left, viz: Mrs. Geneva O. Hall, Nashville, Tenn.; Mrs. Nancy L. Dockery, Hernando, Miss.; Mrs. Hattie M. Williams, Sarasota, Fla.; Mrs. Grace H. Griffin, Mr. William Wright and Mrs. Nannie Alexander of Grenada.

Also, there are these belated teachers still living: Mrs. Annie Mayhew McClelland and Mrs. Jennie DeLoach Johnson, Greenwood; Mrs. Ludie Moore Magruder, Church Point, La.; Mrs. Sallie Campbell Blair, Decatur, Ala.; Mrs. Claude Talbert Parker and Miss Jane Young, Grenada. R. H. Hester, father of Mrs. Jay Gore, Sr. was superintendent.

The death of Frank Thomas, the first member of the GHS class of 1907 to die, and the imminence of the graduation of the Class of 1954, make the reminiscences of Nannie Alexander, published elsewhere, particularly timely.

But the record of the GHS Class of 1906 ain't to be sneezed at. It was composed of three, Margaret Hughes, Amie Weir and myself. Though some of us are merely limping along, all of us are alive, and all live in Grenada or Grenada County.

Boat races sponsored by the Grenada Boat Club will be held at Grenada Lake May 23rd. This will be the first of several such events scheduled for this summer.

The drivers will be competing for merchandise prizes which were donated by Grenada business men.

There will be a total of seven races during the afternoon. The first race starts at 2:00 p. m. Each race will be five laps around a one mile course. Only boats of the same class may enter each race and boats are classified according to motor horsepower and type of boat. The schedule of races is as follows:

- I - Fishing Boat races, 5 hp. motors;
- II - Family Runabouts, up to 10 horsepower motors;
- III - Family Runabouts, up to 25 horsepower;
- IV - Class B Runabouts, up to 16;
- V - Class B Runabouts, up to 16;
- VI - Class B stock racing runabout - up to 16 hp;
- VII - Inboard runabouts;
- VIII - Free for all - anything goes.

The races will be run parallel to the shore from the dam near the spillway up to a point in front of the sand beach and spectators will have plenty of room to see the entire course from one place.

The public is requested to refrain from driving or parking their cars on the road to the launching ramp as this creates a problem in getting the boats into the water. Your co-operation will be greatly appreciated in helping to relieve this problem.

There is no charge for the race and the public of Grenada and surrounding areas are cordially invited to come to Grenada Lake Sunday, May 23rd for an afternoon of thrills and fun at the races.

Miss Mary Elizabeth McNeill, executive secretary of Grenada Chapter of American Red Cross announced that a first aid station will be set up, and that Garner Bros. ambulance and its new pulmotor would be ready in case of accidents.

I am telling Subscriber H. H. Lunpkin who has been moved to the swamp in Indiana to look after the gas business, good by and good luck. I want him to tell Supervisor Willie French hi'ddy for me.

This is another 'week'. Postmaster Donald Sharp tells us May 17-24 is Box Improvement Week, but he tells it in a long-winded release from the PO Dept.

Mabel got a Mother's Day letter from our daughter Caroline on Wednesday, May 19th. She lives in Baton Rouge, and I knew Louisiana was backward, but not that backward.

"Prayer Life Mission" Is May 28th at Methodist Church

(By Rev. F. A. Sutphin)

Can you imagine more than a 1,000 people attending a Prayer Meeting? Can you imagine the spiritual depth and power reached by one community whose attention is wholly centered for one day on prayer?

This is what you will see in Grenada, Mississippi on Friday, May 28th, on that day the Prayer Life Mission, an interdenominational effort, will institute a program designed to center the attention of an entire town and community on prayer for one full day.

Internationally known leaders in the field of prayer will speak. Among them will be Dr. Harry Denman who is himself an evangelistic institution not only in the Methodist Church but throughout the world.

At eighteen years of age Dr. Denman was working for the Tennessee, Coal, Iron and Railroad Company. He gave up his job at the age of 22 and entered high school. He became a young people's worker at First Methodist Church, Birmingham. Later he became business manager of the church and worked for a succession of distinguished pastors. During this time he lived with his mother. When she died, he gave the little family house that he and his mother occupied to a new congregation that was being organized. It is now known as Denman Memorial. Harry Denman has no known relatives. The only piece of property he owns is the cemetery lot where he will someday be buried.

As someone has said, Harry Denman is interested in souls, not clothes; not automobiles; not bank accounts. He talks to taxi drivers and plane pilots waitresses and cotton mill owners about their souls.

He was once offered a watch as a gift following a series of services and refused it by saying, 'I get up at four o'clock in the morning and go to bed in the evening when I can, so I do not need a watch.'

Through his sacrificial spirit and Christly attitude, especially in his burning and passionate desire to win people to Christ, he has probably influenced as many people for the Christian life as any person in America.

You will be privileged to hear this amazing man, Friday, May 28 at the Prayer Life Mission in Grenada. Other leaders will be Mrs. Louise Eppleston, Judge and Mrs. Eugene Hawkins, Birmingham and J. E. Edens, Okolona. The program begins at 9 a. m.

Mrs. Effie Latham Dies In Duck Hill

Services for Mrs. Effie Wood Latham of Duck Hill, who died Wednesday, May 12, 1952 at the home of her daughter, Mrs. L. L. Branscome, Sr. of Duck Hill, were held at the Red Hill Church of Christ at 2 Thursday afternoon. The Rev. B. M. Harper of Greenwood and the Rev. W. E. Gray of Kilmichael officiated. Burial was in the church cemetery under the direction of McGahey and Lott Funeral Home of Winona.

Mrs. Latham, who was 73, was born in Webster County. Her husband, James Albert Latham, died 13 years ago. She was a member of the Seventh Day Adventist Church.

She leaves four daughters, Mrs. Branscome and Mrs. W. M. Parker of Duck Hill, Mrs. B. F. Ingram of Holcomb and Mrs. W. W. Ware of Longview, Wash.; three sons, R. F. Latham of Kilmichael, Albert Latham of Duck Hill and Henry Latham of Winona; a brother, John Woods of Walthall; 31 grandchildren, and 17 great-grandchildren.

Roscoe Chapuis in building the lawyers' office on Green Street has had a surplus of volunteer inspectors' like Lewis Marascalco, John Bradley, Joe Eddie and Ralph Semmes, but he was delighted Wednesday to have some real working help, a 4-years-old colored boy laying brick Otis Payton, Jr.

Jack McRee who is rapidly becoming one of Southern Motors (Memphis) salesmen of Oldsmobile, Cadillac and Pontiac cars, visited his folks in Holcomb over the weekend.

400 Against One

Lesson for May 23, 1954

EVERYTHING was set for the great offensive. The cause of the war was beyond criticism, as those days went. The enemy controls one of our cities, and we aim to get it back. Armies and nations have argued like that since the beginning of history. So it looked to the two kings, Jehoshaphat and Ahab, on the eve of their military adventure in Ramoth-Gilead. That was the name of a city which had been in Israelite hands generations before this and now for some time had been under the domination of the aggressive and land-hungry country of Syria. Jehoshaphat, King of Judah, had been a strong and wise king as kings went in Judah; and Dr. Foreman even Ahab, bad as his reputation is in history, had been a rather strong king of Israel. These two, uniting against Syria—how could they lose?

Yes-Men

Ahab was never bothered by a conscience, but Jehoshaphat had misgivings. He sincerely wanted to know how God thought of all this. He felt in his heart that if God did not approve, the whole venture was sure to fail. So he asked his royal colleague Ahab to find out what was the word of the Lord about all this. This was Jehoshaphat's first mistake, for Ahab was the last man to know, or to want to know, the will of God. However, Ahab, being up-to-date and very rich besides, had a stable of yes-men whom he called prophets; men he hired, men who knew on which side their bread was buttered. It seems ridiculous to call such men prophets, but false prophets look and sound very much like true ones—especially when they tell us what we want to hear. So Ahab called a meeting of these yes-men and asked them the question: Shall I go to battle? Their answer was prompt, it was just what the king wanted to hear, as they well knew. What is God's will? Go, by all means. What will come of it, how will the battle go? The Lord will give it into King Ahab's hands. Two lies; perhaps the prophets knew it, perhaps not. Perhaps they did not care whether it was true or not; all they knew was what they were paid to say, and they said it. "Whom the gods destroy, they first make mad," says an ancient Roman proverb. We could revise that and not be far wrong: Whom God wishes to destroy, he first surrounds with yes-men.

Truth No Matter What

Jehoshaphat was still nervous. Unanimous opinion about a debatable question is suspicious in any language. So he asked if the king had any more prophets. Well, yes, there was one, a man named Micaiah—only you will never hear anything good from him, said Ahab. However, Micaiah was sent for, and in his coming and in what he said he put his name on the honor roll of history. Micaiah had everything against him; the vote in the Prophets' Association was 400 to 1; the king would not believe him, the war would start, and would fail, anyhow; and furthermore Micaiah himself would never be thanked for telling the truth and might end his days eating bread and water in jail. Nevertheless, Micaiah, being a true prophet, knew what the truth was, knew God's will and mind, and dared to speak it out. The world needs Micaiahs. We have any number of men who will tell the truth when it is popular, when people will believe them, when it "gets them" something.

This story shows, moreover, what a mistake it is to decide what is right and what is wrong by counting votes. Even if the vote is 400 to 1, the one man may be right. Even if Micaiah were silenced (as he was) and his "sour note"—as Ahab thought it—no longer disturbed that beautiful harmony of the 400 yes-men, they still could not make a lie true by agreeing on it. In a democratic country like ours we tend to forget this. We decide so many things by popular vote, that we come to suppose we can settle what is right and what is wrong, by popular vote. We read in a book that a great majority of people interviewed by the author do what we have always known was wrong.

Corinth Plans Big Pageant Depicting 100 Year History

Mississippi towns which have attained the venerable age of 100 are legion, but few if any have ever planned centennial birthday parties to equal the elaborate celebration currently being arranged by the 10,000 citizens of Corinth. For this year Corinth, appropriately named for the famed crossroads city of Greece because of its importance as a transportation center, reaches the century mark, a milestone which citizens plan to acclaim with what promises to be the largest celebration of its kind ever undertaken in the state. Dates for the week-long observance are May 16-22 inclusive.

The colorful history of this crossroads city, from its birth in 1854 through important Civil War battles to the present era of agricultural and industrial progress, will be re-enacted in parades and pageantry, even to a play-back in minute detail of the famous Jesse James raid on a local bank.

Highpoint of the historical observance will center around the significant part Corinth played in the War Between the States. Homes used alternately by generals of Confederate and Federal armies will be open, trenches still visible, artillery emplacements and fort sites will be properly identified, and souvenirs of the bloody Battle of Corinth will be on display.

Mammoth parades, torchlight marches and street dances, and elaborate fireworks displays are but a few of the features of the seven-day festivities which will see participation by thousands of citizens in colorful costumes of a bygone year.

A brilliant pageant covering Corinth's history from its birth will be staged nightly as a cast of 500 actors in costume interprets the various phases of the city's colorful past. Noted speakers from the Southland also will be on hand for the various events being staged during the celebration.

Shiloh, scene of one of the bloodiest of Civil War battles, just 16 miles northeast of Corinth, will be one of the major points of interest for visitors attending the birthday party, as will the new Pickwick Dam and scenic lake. A nationally known promotion company has been engaged to supervise and stage the celebration and pageant which will utilize practically every citizen within the city. Cost of the observance is expected to total more than $20,000.

An estimated 75,000 persons are expected to visit the city from all parts of the nation, and a special committee has been appointed to arrange comfortable housing for all visitors. The Corinth Centennial, Incorporated will handle reservations of this nature.

Corinthians, complete with genuine beards which they are grooming for the city's 100th birthday celebration May 16-22, re-enact one of the scenes which will be commonplace during the centennial observance.

The celebration will be divided into featured days:

Following a Queen's Presentation Ball Saturday night, May 15, the celebration will get underway with "Religious Freedom Day" Sunday, May 16. On this day a non-denominational church service is to be conducted on the pageant field.

Monday will be "Centennial Day" and will be highlighted by a float parade. The four business streets around the courthouse will be blocked and turned into a midway for the week with hundreds of concession stands, rides, and other carnival paraphernalia.

Tours of ante-bellum homes and war-scarred battle fields will be conducted. Governor White will be a guest for the day with the first performance of the historic pageant that night.

Youth will be featured Tuesday, the day being officially designated "Salute to Youth Day". A parade featuring pets and hobbies will kick off the days activities.

Wednesday will be Armed Forces Day. Bands and army and air force units will be on hand, including the unique "bagpipe" unit of the air force. A Jet air show will carry the spotlight along with other ground displays of military might.

First eliminations in the hilarious "Brothers of the Brush" beard-growing contest will be held with prizes for such accomplishments as longest beard greyest, funniest and ugliest.

Military bands from Memphis will present a concert preceding the evening performance of the pageant, "The Corinth Story".

On Thursday, "TVA Day", featured speaker is expected to be Tennessee Gov. Frank Clement. At the same time "Sisters of the Swirl" will begin judging of their centennial costumes of 100 years ago.

Friday is "Industrial Progress Day" and Corinth industries will hold open house. The notorious Jesse James will also be on hand with his entire gang to re-enact the fabulous story of "The Corinth raid." Even the saloon in which brother Frank mapped out the raid will be reborn for the day.

Saturday will climax the week of fun. Thousands of persons are expected to jam the city as "Agriculture Development Day" is observed. Four H. Future Farmers in conjunction with other such organizations will parade. A highlight of this parade will be Alcorn County rural development clubs that within two years have grown to be a major organization of progress in the county.

On each evening of each of these days will come the pageant and the giant fireworks display.

In this double effort to mark its century of life and at the same time tell the world of its tourist, industrial and agricultural possibilities Corinth is sparing no expense.

Most Corinthians feel they won't be here for the next celebration so they plan to go "all out" on this birthday party.

"Old Soldier" Makes Some Observations About Evolutions Of Grenada Series of "Home Companies"

And Local Observations Of Armed Forces Day

(Ex-Reg. Sgt. Maj. Hq. Co. 140 USFA, W. W. Whitaker, Sr.)

By a happy coincidence, the Grenada National Guardsmen were able to dedicate their handsome new armory on May 15 - Armed Forces Day—and to show off its personnel, its modern equipment and its modern methods of fire control, communication system and the modern technique of warfare.

It so happens that the Grenada unit, Hq. and Hq. Bat., 234th P. A. is the third in a series of "home companies" with which the writer is familiar. The first such unit was the Hq. Co. 1st Miss. P. A. which, when drafted into federal service in June, 1917, became part of the 140th U. S. P. A. Hq. Co. was commanded by Capt. Hodges. The 2nd such unit was formed in 1940, was commanded by Capt. Jim Shaw and was known as Hq. Bat., 114th P. A. Bn. While this unit did not fight as a unit in the 2nd World War, most of its members did participate in that war, if in other units. The unit of this date is commanded by Lt. George Granberry and the Battalion, formed by the local unit, Battery A of Eupora, Battery B of Winona, Battery C of Durant and the Service Battery of Okolona, is commanded by a Grenada soldier, himself a former member of Jim Shaw's "war", Lt. Col. Harold Biddy.

It so happens that the writer, former member of the "home company" of 1917, was accompanied by his son, Whyte Jr., member of the 2nd "home company", and they saw together the wonderful improvements in clothing, equipment and training that the boys of today have.

"Things to fight WITH" were absent in 1917; were mighty scarce in 1940; and abundant today. As for armament, we of the 1917 unit actually did not have a cannon until after the signing of the Armistice when we were stationed in southeast France; only until after we got on a ship for transportation to France did even the higher-ranking sergeants get a .45 pistol to worry with. Jim Shaw's men fared a little, but not much better, in 1940. Today, the armory of the present "home company" is filled with modern weapons, modern and expensive fire-control and fire-observation equipment, etc., even slide rules and air compressors.

(In "our" war, I seldom had sugar in my coffee because sugar was not available. Today I can get both sugar and cream, but, since I am now a diabetic, I use saccharine, and none of the readily available sugar.)

In "our" war, Sgt. Jim Keeton, the supply sergeant, had his supply "office" in a corner of a messy tent in which he had 3 sizes: little, big and medium and just about as many shades of OD as there were pieces of clothes. (I was the colonel's main helper as I was his sergeant major, the colonel issued an impossible-to-fill order to obtain for me a "uniform" that was uniform, yet I got one shade of OD for shirt, another for blouse, another for puttees, etc.) Instead of a corner of a lousy tent, Sgt. Ming today has a room filled with stuff and a real vault to hold guns and munition.

The armory was paid for in this manner: 3-4 by the federal government; 1/4 by the state, while the land was donated by the Grenada community, and the armory cost about $60,000. At the final ceremonies, marking the close of Armed Forces

Day, the title to the property was passed to the state.

The armory itself is a substantial brick-concrete-hollow tile-steel - glass building with an overall size of 92X120 feet, with an uncolumned clear space of 60X100 feet in the middle, used for storage of guns and vehicles. What we used to call the "let Sgt. tent", staffed by Messrs (that's right). They are Warrant Officers with title, "Mr." Grissom and Blaylock, has all the office equipment and supplies usually seen in a first-class bank, in great contrast to the old-fashioned "locker box" used in 1917 and battered up Remington typewriter. Then there are classrooms, kitchen, toilets (former name of the dug-out hole in the earth was latrine), communications equipment and several other rooms - all fixed up in first-class style. No estimate was made of the most of the stuff inside the building, such as guns, fire-control equipment, signal equipment, engineering equipment, slide rules, drafting stuff, guns, ammunition, etc., etc., but is easily conceivable that the total cost of such stuff would be over $200,000.00, for all of which the battery commander, Lt. Granberry, is responsible.

(This tale could go on forever, as one reminiscence after another pops into the writer's memory.)

The "big brass", in army nomenclature, present were three representatives of the State's Adjutant Gen.

Whyte Jr. and I noted, present that day, several veterans of what we are pleased to call "Jim Shaw's war", like Lt. Col. Harold Biddy, Major Jack Vance and Fred Theisman, all of whom were plain enlisted men back in 1940.

As for the Grenada unit, Granberry is CO; Bill Murray is 1st Sgt. (replacing the 1917 version, Morrison Thomas), Ming is Supply Sergeant. At battalion level, Biddy is CO and Gas baked 'em

... with moist heat*

When you bake breads, cakes or meat, your gas oven keeps them wrapped in moisture. So breads rise even and light—without putting a pan of water in the oven. Meats hold more of their natural juices because moist heat keeps goodness in—instead of parching it out. GAS helps you cook better naturally—no special methods, no special pans. You can see how you are cooking with gas!

You'll find it's easy to keep a gas range new looking. Burners lift out for complete cleaning all over—you can even boil them—and gas burners are good for a lifetime. Gas ranges cost less to buy, less to maintain and less to operate. Nothing beats gas for speed!

Industry Safety Award Presented Workers At New Generating Plant

The construction organization that built Mississippi Power & Light Company's new 210,000 kilowatt Delta Steam Electric Station, near Cleveland, has been cited for outstanding achievement in safety.

In a special ceremony held recently at the huge new plant, W. T. Rogers, safety director of Ebasco Services, Inc., presented the award to W. W. Miller, construction superintendent for "achieving one of the best safety records of all the Ebasco projects under construction throughout the United States and the world."

In presenting the award, Mr. Rogers paid tribute to the construction forces and Mississippi Power & Light Company personnel.

Citing the significance of the award, Mr. Rogers said, "Men are alive and well today who would not have been alive if there had not been a good safety program on this project. This is proof that the construction industry need not be taken for granted as a hazardous industry."

Terms and conditions of Ebasco's award were set up by a committee of client companies safety directors, with the Ebasco safety director as chairman. To be eligible for the award a construction organization must achieve an injury index at least 25% below the national average for the construction industry.

Delta Steam Electric Station's injury index was 24.13, or 42.31%

below the national average, which was almost twice as good as the national average.

An average of 364 employees worked 782,669 hours on the project from July 1, 1952, to June 30, 1953, the period for which the award was given. During the time there were no fatalities and only 16 lost-time accidents of a minor nature.

At the presentation ceremony Mississippi Power & Light Company officials congratulated the construction workers for their outstanding safety record which contributed greatly to the project being completed on schedule and for the estimated cost.

You can believe anything about it you want to but I think the real reason they stopped the public hearing in the McCarthy-Army row was because the hearings were putting too much air on the republicans. We Democrats, both here and there, were enjoying it.

I think people in this county and in other counties in the dam area, should always remember that it was Jim Eastland who, thru his 'weight' in the Senate was able to get cotton acreage, formerly in the dam area, transferred to other parts of the county. Jim Eastland 'draws water' in Washington. However good Gov. Gartin is in many respects, he lacks one valuable asset, and that is 'weight' in Washington. Cotton farmers in Grenada County would be in a helluva shape regarding acreage, had not Jim been there pitching.

Albert Clark, supervisor of the pint size beat, was monkeying around in Grenada Tuesday.

To fellow members of Arthritis Anonymous: mine aint hurt in nearly a month, following a series of shots Dr. Avent gave me. Then, too, I regularly take orange juice and codliver oil, a la Mrs. Jake Whitaker, but I have not got to the remedy of boiled alfalfa seed, supplied by Weibles of Gordaville, Va., but am holding 'that in reserve. Send YOUR cure in.

I will repeat what I said last week about this little dude Rhoades who with the assistance of Julia Talbert, is getting up this Juvenile Delinquency special issue; whatever he says the GCW will do in regard to this campaign, the GCW will do.

I am happy to say that Dr. Walston, the Negro dentist, expressed much interest in this subject and stated that the colored C. of C. was going to make a project of doing things to improve the delinquencies of colored children. Unquestionably there are serious delinquencies among all teenagers, both white and colored. I don't imagine the problem is any worse here than in other parts of the nation, but it is a serious problem, crying for answers everywhere.

When one of our subscribers die with the GCW still owing him some 'time', we always seek to send to his heirs the unexpired space owing the deceased, and that's why the 3 or 4 months still due Frank Thomas are going to another Frank Thomas (the deceased's son) in Elaine, Ark.

The Arkansas Frank, we understand, runs a 1000 acre plantation also owns a big service station there.

We have a Frank Thomas in Grenada County, but I think he reads his brother's copies of the GCW.

Sorry to hear that Brother B. B. Payne is quite seriously ill at home.

I don't know whether Cigar Smoking Childs is out of the grass or not, but he was in town bright and early sady.

Court House note: I aint never got on to EXACTLY what's going on over there, but I am getting stronger and stronger whiffs

Here's a suggestion to Grenada County Chamber of Commerce. The Negro C. of C. has a project of trying to curb juvenile delinquency among the colored children. There is plenty of juvenile delinquency among white kids also. My suggestion, therefore, is that these two organizations get together in a joint effort to seek to ameliorate juvenile delinquency among ALL Grenada kids, regardless of color.

I had our old L. C. Smith typewriter 'fixed' Monday, & I think the man did a good, conscientious job. Anyway, it operates much like it did when papa, who died in 1931, bought it second hand in the late 1920s. With machines lasting that long, one surely should take off his hat to the man who made them. I have found out this much about typewriters: as long as you have a ribbon, you can get printed lines of the machine. Lines, that is, of some kind.

We are having somewhat better luck with cats now. In fact, we have three: Buckingham IV, who came from Mary Meek; Owen, another one from Mary, upon whom we are giving custodial care pending the coming of Mrs. Salter; and little Mabel, a cute Oxberry cat. Buckingham did get a little puny, following the pattern of our other cats, but has regained his activity at last.

I think the candidate pattern for 1955 is going to be full in place, slack in others. 7 or 8 for Sheriff; only 2 (so far) for Chancery Clerk; a couple for Circuit Clerk; only one for Tax Assessor; one for Coroner & Ranger; and an almost unlimited number for supervisors.

Wednesday morning, it looked like old times in Grenada to see Miss Estelle Turner here for the graduation exercises. Whyte Jr. was one

O. W. Scott Sells Big Tract To West Texan

Mr. O. W. Scott of Duck Hill recently sold to Mr. T. A. Coleman of Crystal City, West Texas, a 1300-acre tract of land, originally descended from the Wilkins estate, and lying in the so-called 'camp area' north and east of Duck Hill.

Mr. Coleman, a big-rabbonny fellow, with a Texas hat, just naturally looked like Texas, apparently wants to get his cattle to a place where rain falls every now and then. He has already brought 165 head of the famous Santa Gertrudes cattle to put on this land and eventually will bring more. From what we gathered the Santa Gertrudes cattle are the only recognized 'breed' of cattle; that other 'crosses' are not recognized in cattle 'society.' The Santa Gertrudes breed was developed on the King Ranch in southeast Texas and is 3-8 Brahma and 5-8 Short Horn.

While Mr. Coleman has been in this community for several weeks, getting his stuff transferred and his 'papers' filed up, Mrs. Coleman has been back home in West Texas.

The Colemans plan for the present to live in Grenada as soon as they can lease a suitable place.

Due to water conditions fishing was very, very poor over the weekend. Sardis the old stand-by, was rising and a little dinky. pe and the blue gills are bedding up and limit catches are being caught, hitting roaches and crickets, fast and furious. Robinson Bayou is the hottest spot for large blue gills. They are in beds and hitting roaches, crickets and popping bugs.

Our spillway, the Grenada Dam, has begun to pay off. Several have caught crappie and striped bass. That's something unusual to catch striped bass at either one of the spillways. You have got to know what to fish with and where to fish for those stripers. The smallest minnows you can get is the best. Stop by this station and I will explain to you and try to show you the right kind of tackle and bait.

O. L. McLain, our game warden, asked me to try to explain some of the rules and laws on fishing at the spillway. No snagging at all, no line with more than two (2) single hooks, and no artificial bait with more than three (3) hooks shall be used; no nets; dip nets, trot line, seines, or throw lines.

I have been told by reliable sources that limits of large crappie are being caught on Sardis; Coles boat landing, Coontown and a few up at Hurricane Creek.

HOME AGENT NOTES

(By Bervil Elder)

Are you one of those persons who has received orders from his doctor to go on a special diet? Maybe a salt-free diet?

If this is the command, it means that you cannot use table salt. And it means that you'll find vegetables and other foods taste flat without any salt or seasoning.

But one thing that will help is a squeeze of lemon juice added to food. And it's a good idea for those who can use salt, too. Add lemon juice to soups, salads, fish, vegetable juices, fruit juices, stewed fruits, steaks, chops, fresh fruit, vegetables, appetizers, ground meats, frozen orange juice, liver, chicken, sea foods, roasts, melons and desserts.

You will be surprised how the lemon will stimulate your taste buds and make every bite taste better.

Salt or no salt, here are some tips on lemon seasoning that will add flavor and appeal to nearly everything you eat.

For a salad, marinate cucumber slices and onion rings to lemon juice. Add sugar if desired. A food flavorful combination is endive, lettuce, radishes, green pepper and tomatoes, served with lemon French dressing or salad dressing. Use honey mixed with lemon juice for a simple sweet fruit salad dressing. Mix equal amounts of lemon juice and sugar on top of a fresh tomato salad. This is good also on other fresh vegetable salads.

For soups, float thin slices of lemon on tomato bouillon. Add glamour and appetite appeal by pulling a sprig of parsley through the center of the lemon slice.

The easiest and quickest deserts for dieters are those made of fresh fruits. Try a squeeze of lemon on cantaloupe to bring out the delicate flavor. Sprinkle sliced fresh peaches with lemon juice and then sweeten with honey for a pleasant taste surprise. Add color and texture contrast with juicy orange chunks.

Usually juicy lemon wedges are enough to serve with fish. For a lively flavor, sprinkle the fish with lemon juice and paprika before broiling. To eliminate odor, rub fish inside and out with fresh lemon before cooking - and add flavor at the same time.

Green beans, squash, baked potatoes are all more flavorful when served with lemon juice, butter and a bit of grated onion or chopped chives. Use sweet butter, if on a low salt diet. Carrots taste good when seasoned with lemon butter, chopped fresh parsley and nutmeg. Try lemon juice and butter with a dash of dry mustard and marjoram on steamed cabbage, Brussels sprouts and cauliflower.

Squeeze lemon juice on lean beef and sprinkle with dry mustard and pepper. Season hamburger patties by squeezing lemon juice right into the meat before cooking and add chopped onion.

Sprinkle chicken breast with a little paprika for color, baste with lemon juice, butter and fresh parsley. Or, use freshly ground black pepper and thyme. Baste broiled chicken with a sauce of lemon juice, olive oil and crushed clove of garlic.

BUCHANAN-ODOM VOWS SAID

Miss Polly Odom became the bride of Mr. Joe Buchanan of Water Valley in a ceremony of simplicity and beauty Saturday evening at eight o'clock in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Odom. Only members of the immediate family and a few close friends were in attendance.

Antique stands holding large vases of white gladioli flanked the living room mantel before which the couple stood to pledge their vows. The single ring ceremony was read by Dr. John W. Landrum.

The bride was attractively attired in a frock of navy silk shantung with which she wore navy and white accessories and a white orchid corsage.

Serving her sister as maid of honor was Miss Idell Odom, wearing orchid shirtdress with a corsage of white carnations. The Rev. Clyde Howard of Water Valley attended the groom as best man.

An informal reception honoring the bridal party was held at the Odom home immediately following the ceremony.

The dining table, draped with a crecheted cloth, held an exquisite 8-tiered cake surmounted by the traditional bride and groom. The cake was encircled with purple and yellow pansies and flanked by white candles in silver holders.

Mr. and Mrs. Buchanan left for a trip through the Smoky Mountains after which they will make their home in Water Valley.

MRS. BURT PRESENTED PUPILS IN RECITAL

The High School Piano Recital, by pupils of Mrs. Enoc Burt, staged at the Elementary School Auditorium on Monday evening at 8 o'clock was well attended by an appreciative audience.

The pupils performed beautifully, each one playing two numbers. There were three vocal solos accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Burt.

Each young lady in the class presented an exquisite picture as she appeared on stage in a summer formal, most of the buifout model dresses were of white or pastel nets.

All over the nation school recitals are in progress, and the citizens who attend these recitals are privileged to see and hear local culture, accomplishment in arts, and advance progress of young Americans.

Just in case you've missed the recitals this year, plan to attend some or all home talent recitals in the future.

The following were presented: JUNIOR HIGH: Carolyn Clark, Ryle Messina, Bess Parks, Phelan Houston, Patricia Paschal, Cynthia Dubard, Mary Lee Simmons, Gail Bowen, Clarice Townes, Martha Grant.

"Lizzie Horn Day" Observed Tuesday

Out of respect to Miss Lizzie Horn, and in appreciation of her years of unselfish devotion to the youth of this community, Tuesday, May 19, was designated 'Miss Lizzie Horn Day' in Grenada.

A short program was held on the elementary campus at 2:30 p. m. at which time special tribute was paid the beloved principal who is retiring at the close of the school term.

As a symbol of love for Miss Lizzie, each of her children was asked to wear a red rose throughout the day.

The program was opened by Mr. John Rundle saying the invocation. Pupils of the 4th, 5th and 6th grades sang the 'Star Spangled Banner' and 'Faith of our Fathers'.

Mr. Hathorn then introduced the 6th grade class of 1964, led by Kene Huffman, Ben McElwain, Homer Williams, Mrs. Louisa Trouble, Charles and Mrs. Myrtle Thomas, to stand. Fred Daily and E. L. Atkinson of Jackson were members of this class but were not present. This group represented the first class taught by Miss Lizzie in Grenada. After presenting the first class, all pupils of Miss Lizzie were asked to stand.

At this time Mr. Hathorn presented to Miss Lizzie an installed television set at her home on College Street and a check for $35.72 as gifts from her friends. Mrs. Bert Bays was PT&A chairman of this gift committee.

Miss Lizzie received numerous small gifts, letters and telegrams. The large bouquet of red roses on the speakers table was presented her by members of the colored school faculty and students.

She accepted the homage and love expressed to her in a most gracious and almost tearful speech. She then introduced Mr. Wilbourn, her successor and asked that patrons and friends continue to cooperate with him that he too may have a successful administration.

Hathorn Pays Tribute

The most fitting and enduring tribute which comes to an unselfish teacher is not in the form of words of commendation and praise from friends and associates, but rather is found in the hearts and souls of those who have felt the impelling influence of that teacher's personality. So those of us who seek to render tribute to Miss Lizzie Horn realize just how inadequate our words may be, but we know that most of the children, many of the parents, and some of the grandparents who live in Grenada today are living tributes to the handwork of this master teacher.

As teacher, high school principal, and superintendent it has been the privilege of this writer to be associated with Miss Lizzie for the past 27 years; thus, it has been his good fortune to be in a position to observe the influence which Miss Lizzie has exerted upon the children of this school and upon the citizens of the community. We have all sensed her singleness of purpose, her unselfish devotion to her work, her keen sense of justice, her sympathetic understanding and her amazing knowledge of boys and girls.

To Miss Lizzie, her work has been a calling rather than a profession. As she retires from active school service, she takes with her the greatest reward which can come to a teacher—the knowledge that she has followed the Master's injunction and allowed little children to come unto her.

—J. C. Hathorn.

(Two other tributes to Miss Lizzie will appear next week.)

"Farm of the Week" Last Week

The farm home and headquarters, shown above, and shown as the Farm of the Week, last week are those of Maurice E. Phillips who lives about 9 miles east of Grenada, in Beat Two, and very close to new No. 8 Highway.

He acquired the land, which was part of the Bunk Gray old place from Fred Tyner after the army held it as part of the Camp McCain reservation during the war years. There are 30 acres in Mr. Phillips' tract. We were told that the Bunk Gray old house stood on the spot on which Mr. Phillips' hand some new home stands.

—This Series Sponsored by Jitney-Jungle, Grenada.

The family consists of the wife, the former Miss DeLois Marder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Will Marder who, by the way, occupy the smaller of the two homes shown above, and of two sons, Eugene, 11, and Lynn, 6. Both families, the Phillips family and the Marder family, are longtime citizens of the eastern section of this county.

Shown in the background above is the poultry house where he has 1,000 New Hampshire Red hens, the eggs from which he sells to Swift & Co. Not shown are cattle which he grazes on pastures in summer, and feeds during the winter. Phillips practices a plan of living long ago envisioned by the late Henry Ford: work in a factory, but supplement income from a small farm. Mr. Phillips is a knitter in Grenada Industries, but 'lives' in the country, where he and members of his family do most of the work on the farm. His favorite 'crop' are chickens and his favorite 'mule' is a tractor. He bets on basic slag and mixed fertilizer for his crops and pastures.

(Mr. W. B. Rook, an oldtimer in Beat Two, was in the office and said that the Phillips tract was originally the John Patterson old tract.)

Mr. Phillips' plans are to improve and clean-up his property and consistently improve his pastures and crop land. He is in his early 30s and has been there 4 years and is a member of the Pleasant Grove Baptist Church. He called at the office Saturday morning, identified the farm photograph, there awaiting him, and took it home.

We can supply a concrete example of juvenile delinquency. I raised all manner of hell when they were talking about making the City Hall a play place for kids. One morning I came to the office but to see that both of our plate glass windows were busted in. While I never knew who did it, I always thought, and still think that some teenagers, incensed at my attitude about playing in the city hall, and perhaps encouraged by their parents, did the job of destruction which cost us $110.00 to repair. Such was a real good example of juvenile delinquency. Look back at the old county records and you will see, as I have seen, that most officers who served in that era once wore the grey.

AAA MOBILE TRAVEL BUREAU INAUGURATED IN MISSISSIPPI

A unique plan for cutting Mississippi's "grass roots" in on the tourist dollar will be put into effect soon by the Mississippi Automobile Club, an AAA affiliate.

A mobile unit has been acquired by the Mississippi Automobile Club and will cover the state as an aid to promoting various tourist attractions.

"We have long felt," said Howard P. Hill, MAC executive manager, "that there was a need for reaching into the 'grass roots' sections of the state and giving them a helping hand tourist-wise. Oftimes smaller communities have attractions of tremendous value that go unnoticed for lack of the proper promotion and publicity.

"It will be our purpose to seek out these attractions, work with the community leaders in developing them and then tell the motorists of these United States about the project.

"The mobile unit will enable us to work in the smaller communities where it is not practical to establish a AAA office. Especially are we anxious to assist in travel promotions that are just getting started and need a 'shot in the arm' to make them go."

Mr. Hill says that the AAA mobile unit already has been assigned to several forthcoming events, and that other communities desiring assistance should contact the: Tourist Promotion Committee, Mississippi Automobile Club, Heidelberg Hotel, Jackson, Miss.

Town Talk
BY FED ROBINSON

Perhaps this one should be called the WONDER column because we wonder about some things.

We wonder what people would be like if they lived after the manner in which the Creator intended them to be. We wonder if it is not the way we organize or disorganize our lives that make for most of our mental and physical difficulties. We have never heard of any other of God's creatures having 'nervous breakdowns' or cerebral hemorrhage. We wonder what men would be like if they would demonstrate a brotherly attitude toward all mankind, had never told a lie, had never voiced an oath of profanity, had never raised their voices in harshness, had never spouted off their tempers, had never cheated on one another in any way. We Wonder.

We wonder if David's 23rd Psalm wasn't written after his own experience with a flock of sheep from which he received his inspiration for this beautiful, restful and reassuring poem. We wonder what a restful little nap, lying in cool green grass, would do to a tired nervous man's disposition. We wonder why men are always attracted by the swift-running currents, wild roaring waters when little sheep will never drink from turbulent streams. A shepherd must find a quiet pool for his sheep to drink from. Once each day, it is said, sheep will leave their grazing and come to the shepherd and he will rub their nose and reassure them that there aren't any dangers near. We wonder if men sometimes wish they had some one to whom they could go for a reassuring word of encouragement - some one to lay a hand on the shoulder. At evening time sheep will nudge up to the shepherd and he will anoint their little scratches with oil, and he makes them drink from a cup as it overflows in his hands, and so the sheep are content to dwell in his fold forever. Sheep never fight one another. We wonder what life would be like if men were like little sheep with a guardian of love to guide them and watch over them.

Well, we do have a good shepherd you know, but we don't follow him very well.

—Fed.

THAT LEFTOVER PRESCRIPTION

Medical scientists long ago gave up the search for a cure-all. Each sickness requires special treatment to fit the particular case. The medicine that helped Janie may be of no value to Bobby. In fact, it might cause serious trouble if used unduly. Never save a leftover prescription for future use. Let your doctor prescribe fresh, specific medicine for each illness. Only then are you safe and sure of proper treatment.

"SEEN, HEARD AND TOLD BY THE EDITOR"

Unusual things come up when you begin inquiring and delving into the past. In a recent issue, we had on the front page a picture of the Victor Miles home, a home built on the site of Myrtle Vale. On the inside of that issue was a picture of Craig Mullen's home, which occupied the site of the Curt Guy old place in Beat Five. Now, here is the unusual part: Mrs. Edmore Perry, nee Bessie Estes, was born at Myrtle Vale, while a former husband, Lynn Guy (the father of several of her children) was born in the Guy old home.

Delving into an imperfect memory about Mr. Curt Guy, whose old place, near Holcomb, is now owned by several folks, including Craig Mullen, I remember that he and his boy, Shelly Guy, were big bird hunters and that, on more than one occasion, I, then a boy, rode along hunting with them. Nobody then thought of WALKING bird hunting. All rode horses. There used to be a lot of children, Shelly, Marie (now Dr. Moore's wife), Lynn (I think he was once married to one of the Estes girls, perhaps Bessie), Rebecca, Trimble and Fannie, the little blond gal. As a matter of fact, and in spite of what I wrote last week, I think Fannie, now married, lives somewhere in the Carolinas. As I remember, Mr. Guy was at some Confederate reunion in Memphis, slipped, fell and died in an elevator shaft there. Shelly, as I recall, was a rough & ready fellow, drank a heap and spent a lot of time and energy logging.

Miss Lida tells me that the Guy place at Holcomb came from the Thomas family which once owned much of the land along the river between Grenada and what is now Holcomb. I think Mr. Guy once married a Thomas lady, then married a Miss Trimble.

ried a Thomas lady, then married a Miss Trimble.

About half a mile west of Holcomb there is a spot still called Guy's Corner, where Julius Guy is said to have had a country store. What kin to Mr. Curt, I don't know.

The Bledsoe place, west of Grenada, was once owned by one of the Guy family, but what Guy and what kin to Mr. Curt, I don't know, but think C. H. Guy, Sr.

Mr. Guy, an old Confederate veteran, was a contemporary of such men as Cap'n Tom Lampkin, Billy Winter, Billy Rounsaville, Dr. McSwaine, Dick Hall, Dr. Young, Tate Holcomb, and others of that Reconstruction era when the South was digging among the ruins left by the Civil War to try to reestablish law, order and prosperity again.

I came along when old Confederate vets occupied practically all of the elective offices and it was considered very poor taste to run against one. That leads me to believe that folks are prone to honor, with lavish affection, men who were in a losing war, more than men in a winning war.

While it took considerably more than a generation, no section eventually 'came back' more than has the South, and no people have 'come up' more than the Negroes, freed by the Civil War.

No section of ANY part of the South has eventually 'come back' more than Mississippi, particularly North and Central Mississippi.

Generally speaking, North Mississippi and Central Mississippi were 'civilized' before the Civil War. At that time, the delta section, except high land along the rivers, was a howling wilderness. South Mississippi, except along the coast, was a great sea of long-leaf pine trees, barrens, of course, a few fertile spots close to streams.

As Kirk is getting older and gradually erasing himself from the picture, I guess I will have to start calling John Andrew Junius Jr. instead of 'Kirk Jr.'

D.A.R. Approve Film

Why is it that some 200,000,000 folks throughout the world go to see American movies each week? It can be for only one reason: that American movies give them more real pleasure, more pure fun, than any others.

So the Motion Picture Industry has become the only industry in the world that actually safeguards its patrons by self-imposed censorship, and by inviting the D.A.R. and other organizations to preview films, and encourage them to tell the public whether those films are good or bad.

—D.A.R. Magazine.

A committee from Grenada Chapter, D.A.R., had the privilege and pleasure Monday afternoon at the invitation of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Bays of pre-viewing the picture "Little Fugitive". This is a wonderful story of a little boy who is led by older children to think that he has committed a crime. His reaction is one that will make you, or a parent, laugh and then feel a tightening in your throat, but also stop and find the very real moral. You older children will find him very much like your own "little tag-alongs." Be sure to see this very appealing picture at Grenada Theatre Thursday and Friday, May 27, 28.

—Mrs. Eli Whitaker, D.A.R. Motion Picture chairman.

It's true...

More than 69% of U. S. families, in all income groups, drink beer, and "at home" consumption accounts for the greatest use of beer.

The Continental Congress included beer in the army's daily ration during the Revolution. As in most wars, supplies sometimes ran low and so General Washington wrote in 1777, that his troops sadly missed their favorite beverage. "If only beer or cider and vinegar was procured..." he begged the Board of War.

Beer industry employs 18,571. This many Mississippians are carried on payrolls of the State's 61 wholesalers and nearly 6,000 beer retailers.

It's true... that beer carries a higher tax load in Mississippi than it does in any other state in the nation. Largely through growing public acceptance of legally regulated beer as the beverage of moderation — beer is still the fifth largest taxpayer in the Magnolia State.

And WHEREAS, the people of our city, nation and world need spiritual power and direction to solve the problems that threaten them and to use the great new blessings that have come to them,

This is done in conjunction with the Prayer Life Mission, sponsored by the local Methodist Church, but planned for all denominations.
